

Alexander Ribush's Medical Attendant Certificate

This is a certificate, issued to my maternal grandfather, Alexander Ribush in Pskov in 1918. It reads:

'In the course of examination at... (illegible handwriting) under the program, attached to the Order for the Military Department, dated 1873, evinced the following success:

Anatomy and Physiology - highest

External and internal illnesses - highest

Novelty - good

Fractures and dislocations - highest

Minor surgery - highest

Patients and wounded nursing - highest

First aid rendering, taking care of sudden sicknesses and sudden deaths - good

Pharmacy and pharmacology - highest

Knowledge of the Latin language - highest

Taking into consideration such knowledge in the art of medical attendant's subjects ?

the Commission designates to recognize him worth to be appointed army medical attendant. This Certificate is issued to acknowledge the aforementioned.'